DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, see amendment, filed 7/19/06, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1,2,4 and 5 under 35 U.S.C 102 in view of Ogawa have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Kanda (US Patent No 6,389,342) and in view of Husain (US Patent No 6,580,989).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kanda (US Patent No 6,389,342). Kanda discloses a steering apparatus for vehicle comprising: an steering control unit (4) {{target steering reaction torque generation means mentioned in claim 1}}, a torque sensor (33b) attached to the steering control unit and the steering wheel (2) said steering control unit generates a target value (torque/current) outputted to the motor (3), said motor is attached to the steering wheel and gives a reaction torque to the driver of the vehicle; Kanda further discloses a second torque sensor (15) attached to the motor (5) that detects the torque with respect to the motor (5) and the wheels (10) {{the torque sensor 33b detects a road reaction torque}}.

4. Claims 1,2,4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Husain (US Patent No 6,580,989). Husain discloses a motor vehicle steering system comprising: a reaction torque motor (26), being controlled by a controller (16), said controller receives signals from a plurality of sensors, such as: a torque current sensor (28), a temperature sensor (30) (the torque current sensor and the temperature sensor are located on the driver interface system 12), road wheel position sensors (32a,32b), a rack load sensor (44) (road wheel sensors and the rack load sensor are located in road wheel actuator system 14); the controller makes a decision based on all sensors (figure 2) and actuates the reaction torque motor (26) or the road wheel motor (38). Regarding claim 5, it is inherent to say that the steering wheel has a steering wheel shaft attached.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Suzuki (US Patent No 6,360,151), Suzuki discloses an electric power steering unit.
